

ABSTRACT

The present invention concerns essential genes from C. albicans and their use in a method for the screening of antimycotic substances.